

A growing share of PhD graduates in the United States are being employed outside academia

