Sports Statistician Karl Jackson

“ My role as head statistician is to come up with new ways to analyse AFL games that haven't been thought of before. The information is passed on to the clubs to give them a competitive advantage.

As a statistician you can get into any field you want. Wherever your passion leads you whether it's finance, business, medicine or sport, you really can do anything with the job. Working as a sports statistician is for me...a perfect match.
